

Please visit xm.com for more information.

Java Developers with Financial Applications Experience - Limassol or Nicosia

Reference Number: JDFA1017

The main responsibilities of the position include:

- Developing algorithmic trading software
- Recommending software upgrades for existing systems
- Reviewing current systems and presenting ideas for system improvements, including cost proposals
- Producing detailed specifications and implementing the program codes
- Testing the product in controlled situations and rectifying any problems before going live
- Using version control systems
- Assisting in the preparation of training manuals for users
- Responsible for the maintenance of the systems once they are up and running

Main requirements:

- BSc/MSc in Computer Science, Engineering or any other relevant degree
- At least 3 years' experience in a similar position. Experience in the financial industry is a strong plus
- Very good working knowledge of Java
- Knowledge of C/C++, C# is a plus
- Experience in multi-threaded, event driven applications
- Working knowledge of design patterns
- Experience in working with databases and version control systems
- Experience with algorithmic trading is considered an advantage
- Experience with CI tools and testing techniques is considered an advantage
- Proactive, sharp and efficient
- Ability to work autonomously
- Problem solving and critical thinking skills

Enjoy:

- Attractive remuneration package plus performance related reward
- Private health insurance
- Private pension insurance
- Intellectually stimulating work environment
- Continuous personal development and international training opportunities

Type of employment: Full time

Location: Limassol or Nicosia, Cyprus

All applications will be treated with strict confidentiality!

Apply Now

This vacancy was retrieved from bytefreaks.net